encourage people to find joy in life while being afraid and physically isolating. Who knew Sir Anthony Hopkins is a pianist and an artist and a cat lover? How did Ringo Starr and those musicians (separated) around the globe get that audio recorded so perfectly that I nearly cried when hearing “The Weight?” Google your favorite singers, actors, and comedians. There is a treasure trove of songs and messages of encouragement for us all, usually recorded in an artist’s own kitchen or den.

People who know me would not be surprised that I am never bored. There are a millions projects all around me waiting to be started (or finished). There are books to read, Netflix series to watch, stories to tell. There are parents to call (and visit through windows or outside), notes and letters to write, and people to check on who would be appreciative of a kind word. We can help each other even as we are apart. We are each other’s world, after all.

The March meeting of the Lawrenceburg Photographic Society was held at the Old Jail Museum. Curtis Peters gave our group an informational presentation and a tour of the Museum. If you haven’t visited you need to make it a point to go and check it out. There are so many fascinating displays and interesting details of life in Lawrenceburg. For a small town the stories and characters are very large. Curtis Peters was also our monthly photography judge. First place winners in black and white and color were Sharon Smith and Lane Rohling. Our April meeting is to be determined if and where it will take place due to the current events. Stay safe.

LOCALS PARTICIPATE IN “BEAR HUNT” TO ENTERTAIN CHILDREN DURING PANDEMIC – Many locals are joining in a trend that has been moving across the country, hoping to provide a little fun for youngsters who are out for a drive or walk amid the recent conditions of isolation. Since social isolation may be especially difficult for children used to attending school or daycare, many people have been placing bears or other stuffed animals on their porches, hanging them on their doors, or placing them in some other prominent spot, to give kids something fun to look at. While they are on a walk or drive, the kids can “hunt” for the bears, and see how many they can see, how many colors they can find, etc. Here, the Lawrenceburg Fire Department joined in the fun, placing a large bear at the front of an engine, so that it was very visible for passersby. They posted on the department’s Facebook page last week, “We hope everyone is staying Beary healthy through this time of isolation. Our guys are getting cabin fever as well. Hopefully the cure and vaccine will be developed

JACK DANIELS DISTILLERY DONATES – Stepping up to do their part, distillers have set aside their normal production to make hand sanitizer and ship it to the areas where it is most needed. Don Laws with the Lawrenceburg Police Department was able to obtain a donation from the distillery. On Friday, cases of hand sanitizer were delivered to local emergency departments to aid our first responders in staying safe.

LAWRENCEBURG UTILITY SYSTEMS COMMITS TO STOP DISCONNECTIONS
COVID-19 CREATES ECONOMIC INSTABILITY

March 25, 2020--Lawrenceburg Utility Systems (LUS) is proud to serve a wonderful community of people who time and time again band together and support each other through difficult times, and this period of economic instability resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic is one of those times.

LUS is committed to serving all of the citizens of Lawrence County and the City of Lawrenceburg. Therefore, LUS will NOT disconnect utilities for failure to pay until further notice. Since utility charges will continue to accumulate for customers, please make payments when possible to keep your account balance(s) at a manageable level. This comes at a time when our customers need it, and we are committed to working with both residential and business accounts to keep utilities operational during this time of uncertainty.

Key Points to consider:

- ALL DISCONNECTIONS FOR NON-PAYMENT WILL BE SUSPENDED UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.
- Utility charges will continue as this is NOT a waiver of payment.
- Please make payments, if possible, as to keep your utility charges from accruing over an extended time.
